Business Simulation (VACDC) - Rating form improvements for preparation/inbox simulation exercises

Introducing overall competency level rating scale and reset option at behavior level

We have done improvements in the rating form for the preparation/inbox simulation exercises by introducing an overall competency level rating scale and reset option at the behavior level.

Why did we build overall competency level rating scale and reset option at behavior level?

We introduced these two options to make the evaluation experience more user friendly for assessors, and to bring consistency between the ratings forms of the interview/meeting platform (Smart Interview Live) and the business simulation platform.

What is the customer impact of introducing competency level rating scale and reset option at behavior level?

There will be no impact on customers. These are product offerings and are introduced to improve the rating experience of the assessors.

What does text editing options to add Behaviours in an exercise look like on CMS?

The screenshot shows a 'Rating' section with a notification: 'Your comments appear under Strengths and Development areas in the report.' Below this is a 'Writing' category with a '0/4' indicator and five empty circles. Three behavior items are listed, each with a rating scale (one filled blue circle, four empty) and a 'Development need' label. A 'Reset score' button is highlighted in a red box for each item.
